Dear Parents/Carers

We are fast approaching the start of GCSE examinations and we are very proud of how hard our students are working. I know that your support at home is incredibly important to our students. Your children might not always say thank you, but the truth is, you are often the difference. Whether your help is simply talking about their day, helping them plan their revision sessions or making sure that they have had breakfast every day, you do make a difference, a real tangible difference.

I am also very fortunate to have staff here at school that are willing to give up their time to put on additional sessions. These happen every day during period 6, but we know from experience that a concentrated session during the Easter holiday often has enormous benefits. Not just on grades, but perhaps more importantly in improving how students feel about the examination process – this additional contact in the holiday, outside of school time, often reflects a different approach and instills belief, and confidence. I cannot over emphasise the importance and value of self-belief, your children, our students can and will improve, can and will be successful, but they have to hear this time and time again!

Overleaf is the Easter programme of revision sessions. Staff are willingly giving their time, please talk at home about these opportunities and ensure that your children attend all the sessions relevant to them. If there are practical barriers around travel etc., please contact the school and we will do everything we can to overcome these together.

As ever, thank you for your support, it is greatly appreciated.

Yours sincerely
